

You might wonder why we are so full of smiles today? Well, there is a very good reason for it, and we wanted you to be one of the first to know!

A lot changes for us at Metaco today. We start with a whole new context to our company, as we transition from being an owner run consultancy to being part of something much bigger. Metaco is now a fully-owned subsidiary of the Comair Group. And we think this is so exciting....!!

“Why Comair – surely that’s an airline?”, you might ask... Well yes, Comair is an airline and a very successful one. Known for the quality of its leadership and the ability to deliver good results even in very challenging times, Comair is extending its growth into a range of diversified but linked businesses, across a range of sectors.

Through its acquisition of Metaco, Comair intends to expand its focus on enabling integrated, high-performing leadership and teams within its own business, and to enable similar results in other businesses within the aviation sector and beyond. The importance of effective leadership is, after all, relevant to all industries.

Having worked closely with us over the past couple of years in their own company, we are honoured that Comair’s leadership saw Metaco as their ideal partner to take this vision forward.

Some things will stay the same. Metaco’s leadership remains intact – Barbara Walsh and Danny Tuckwood still stay in their roles at the helm of the company in South Africa. Professor Peter Hawkins in the UK stays on our Board and continues to mentor our growth and evolution, ensuring we stay at the cutting edge of leadership development worldwide. Metaco’s efficient administrative support team remains, and we stay in our inspirational premises in Rivonia. Our team of talented, experienced Associates will remain with us as we expand, both in South Africa and Internationally.

The really BIG change is that we now have the infrastructure and resources of a large, well-regarded company behind us, providing more security for our clients, whilst enabling us to reach for our dreams and become so much more than we could have on our own. As we support Comair’s leadership in their exciting growth strategies, at the same time we will continue to partner with other companies across all industries, in South Africa and beyond, with their own visions for performing successfully at the top of their games and contributing to a better future.

Everyone we have interacted with has influenced and supported our journey to this point, and we thank you for your part in it. We look forward to a continued relationship with you, with our shared focus on enabling the best leadership for our companies, our country, and the world we will leave to the generations following us.
